DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1 and 6-16 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 and 13 of U.S. Patent No. 6729418. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because it would have been considered obvious to eliminate roller cone and the roller cone being open at only one end from the claims of 6729418. The claims of 6729418 fully encompass the instant claims.

Claim Objections

Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: In line 1, no antecedent basis could be found for "the cutting assembly". Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1,2,5-7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morris, Sr. et al 2002/0088649 in view of Dixon et al 4036313.

Morris discloses a back reaming tool having a tool body 21 adapted to be coupled to a drill string. Cutting structures (unnumbered) are mounted on legs 23. Morris does not disclose the leg being detachable from the tool body. Morris does teach the entire tool body being detachable. Dixon teaches a cutting structure 62 mounted on a leg 72 where the leg is detachable mounted to tool body 60. It would have been considered obvious to detachable mount the legs of Morris as taught by Dixon in place of the detachable mounting of the entire tool body, since either detachable means allow changes of the cutting structure being used. As to claim 2, the back of the leg forms an integral stabilizer. As to claim 5, the cutting structure is fixed with respect to the leg. As to claim 6, the cutting structure is a rolling cone. As to claim 7, the axis of rotation is at an angle of about 180 degrees within the claimed range. As to claim 10, a removable coupling end attaches the tool body to the drill string.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3,4 and 17 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
